Barry Sloane (Six) and Michael Luwoye (Hamilton) are set to co-star opposite Jimmy Smits and Caitlin McGee in NBC's legal drama pilot Bluff City Law (working title) from The Brave creator Dean Georganis, David Janollari, Michael Aguilar and Universal TV.

Co-created by Geogaris and Aguilar and written by Geogaris, Bluff City Law is a character-driven legal drama that follows the lawyers of an elite Memphis firm that specializes in the most controversial landmark civil rights cases. Led by legendary lawyer Elijah Strait (Smits) and his brilliant daughter, Sydney Keller (McGee), they take on the toughest David-and-Goliath cases while navigating their complicated relationship.

Sloane will play Jake Reilly, a smart and confident lawyer who works for Elijah. Luwoye plays Anthony Little, a fantastic lawyer who is also the warm-hearted father of three daughters.

Geogaris executive produces with Janollari and Aguilar. Universal TV produces with studio-based David Janollari Entertainment.

NBC

Sloane starred as Joe "Bear" Graves on History's military drama Six. Before that he starred on ABC's Revenge and The Whisperers and recurred on Netflix's Longmire. Sloane, who is recurring on the first season of the upcoming Bad Boys offshoot L.A.'s Finest, is repped by ICM Partners and Silver Lining Entertainment.

Luwoye just wrapped a run in the starring role of Alexander Hamilton in hit Hamilton on Broadway. He is the only person to have played the roles of both Hamilton and Burr on the same day. In TV, Luwoye has recurred on Fox's The Gifted and Netflix's She's Gotta Have It. Luwoye is repped by Lillian LaSalle at Sweet 180, Clear Talent Group and Jackoway Tyerman.
